FLUTTER TESTS

- Consumer Flutter app — booking, slots, QR check-in & wallet, offline-first
- Realtime matchmaking & match chat — Supabase Realtime + RLS
- Next.js admin dashboard over a versioned /v1 API, one shared RBAC matrix

04 — ARCHITECTURE & STACK

Two clients, one versioned contract

KEY DECISIONS

01 Monorepo: the NestJS backend and Next.js admin share one typed contract and RBAC package

02 Additive-only /v1 contract with a byte-compatible envelope and server-driven version gating

03 OpenAPI drift gates in CI: the spec must match the code before the client regenerates

04 Realtime chat on Supabase Realtime + RLS, with no socket server to operate

STACK

MOBILE: Flutter · BLoC

ADMIN: Next.js · React · Tailwind

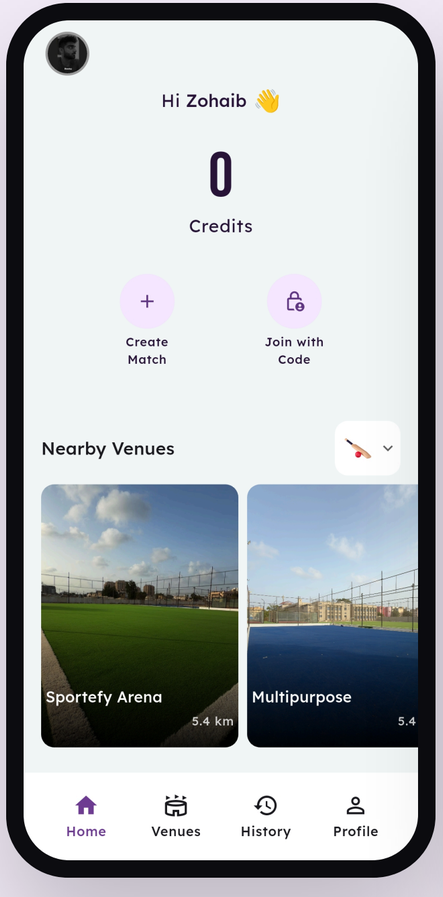

BACKEND: NestJS 11 · Prisma 7 · PostgreSQL

BOOKINGS IN 10 WEEKS

Live on the App Store and Play Store, currently v1.4.x, with a Next.js ops dashboard behind it: real bookings across 8 venues, shipped continuously with zero breaking releases across a mixed-version install base.

WHAT SHIPPED

- Consumer app live on both stores
- Additive-only /v1 API: older app versions keep working
- Matchmaking and match chat on Supabase Realtime
- Ops dashboard for manual bookings and slots
